Summer style for the home sizzles at HomeSense

Colourful, outdoor living has never been so stylish and affordable. HomeSense, the new homeware retailer with six stores now open across the country is stocking a huge selection of summer accessories and outdoor furniture for the home and garden.

The HomeSense buying team travels the world scooping up the best deals globally, and brings them back to the UK, passing the savings, and the style onto shoppers. So whether it's a new outdoor drinking set, a picnic basket, deck chair or some colourful planters, HomeSense is the place to discover that special something to get the summer look for your home and garden.

Pick up some outdoor lighting solutions like giant garden candles and fun lanterns; make cocktail hour that much more fun with flexi-ice cube trays in shapes like butterflies, strawberries and stars; create an el fresco experience that will be remembered well past the summer with colourful vases and durable oversized bowls.

In order to bring you the most up-to-date selection of products at great value, stock at HomeSense is changed and refreshed daily. So every visit to HomeSense leads to a new discovery and a new inspiration for summertime. This also means that when you find that perfect cushion, dinner set or outdoor decoration, chances are your neighbour won't have the same one – allowing you to express your individual style without having to pay over the odds.

Products are chosen for their quality, style and value – not because they have a fancy brand name attached to it – although if designer products meet the product criteria, HomeSense will be sure to stock those too.

Summer will never look the same now that the HomeSense concept has arrived.
